

DER LITERARISCHE EXPRESSIONISMUS ONLINE

CRITICAL EDITION

LANGUAGE OF PUBLICATION German

USER INTERFACE English, German

SUBJECT AREAS Library & Information Science > Press and Media, History > Cultural History, History > Contemporary History, Politics, Art and Music > Art History, Literary Studies, General, German Literature > 20th Century

READERSHIP Libraries; Research Institutes; Scholars of the Literary, Theatre, Motion Picture and Cultural Sciences

For further information, please visit our website at degruyter.com/lzeo

Get your free trial here: degruyter.com/freetrial

DER LITERARISCHE EXPRESSIONISMUS ONLINE

Zeitschriften, Jahrbücher, Sammelwerke, Anthologien

[German Literary Expressionism Online: Journals, Yearbooks, Collections, Anthologies]

Through the research database German Literary Expressionism Online 151 journals, yearbooks, collections and anthologies from the early 20th century with 2,404 issues are now available in full text.

Not least among those aspects setting expressionism apart from other literary historical epochs, is the role played by its journals. As a medium, journals provided expressionist authors with their most important forum for literary, artistic, intellectual and political discourse. Each author wrote for one journal or another, some publishing their work exclusively in periodicals, anthologies and other collections.

In their early years, many of the most important literary figures of the 20th century made their first literary appearances in periodicals. They included Hugo Ball, Johannes R. Becher, Gottfried Benn, Georg Heym, Klabund, Else Lasker-Schüler, Georg Trakl and Franz Werfel. Authors, philosophers, theologians, politicians, historians, art historians, psychologists, and many others not belonging to the central circle of expressionists, also wrote for the new journals; such as Martin Buber, Gerhart Hauptmann, Theodor Heuss, Hugo von Hofmannsthal, Gustav Landauer, Rainer Maria Rilke, Arthur Schnitzler.

Through the new research database German Literary Expressionism Online this extensive and complex material is now available comprehensively. The individual journals, yearbooks, collections and anthologies, are presented online as facsimiles, with a variety of search possibilities providing easy access to the individual editions. The articles can be found using various search criteria or full-text searches, thus making it possible to work very effectively with the texts.

The edition is rounded off by a scholarly introduction.

- ▶ 151 journals, yearbooks, collections, and anthologies from the early 20th century
- ▶ 2,404 issues in full text
- ▶ Articles can be found through various search criteria, including full text search
- ▶ Supplemented with bio-bibliographical articles on 350 expressionist authors
- ▶ Non-restrictive DRM – allows for an unlimited number of simultaneous users campus/institution-wide